

N•R•G Tablets

An all-natural lift to improve your day.

Have you ever fallen asleep at your desk after lunch? Or, worked late on an important project, and just can't think clearly anymore? Or, do you occasionally need more stamina to improve a workout performance?

At times like this we might reach for another bitter cup of coffee, perhaps laden with sugar or a sugar substitute and a shot of heavy cream. Or, if we're working out and counting calories, we could grab a diet soda containing a myriad of processed chemicals. Either way, the result can be less than satisfying.

An all-natural, healthy alternative can be found in the stimulating properties of the legendary Guarana berry from the rainforests of Brazil. Guarana has been harvested and used for centuries by the Amazon Indians for physical and mental energy. With its reputation as a natural tonic, botanists today believe that the current plants are actually the same as those cultivated thousands of years ago.

Herbalife has captured the rejuvenating qualities of raw Guarana in its N•R•G tablets, formulating the natural fruit into a single tablet designed to deliver an instant, natural lift.* Keep some in your purse, your glove compartment or packed in your gym bag and take one whenever your spirits are lagging or you need an energy boost.

Did You Know?

In Brazil, a syrup formulated from Guarana berries is used for certain carbonated soft drinks, known as "Guarana Soda," which has become the country's national beverage and is sold under various brand names; it's usually one of the things Brazilians miss when they travel abroad. The extract from the berry imparts a sweet, yet spicy fruit flavor to the beverage.
